CLOSING DAY AT PIMLICO

GLOMER OUTSTAYS GOLDEN LIST IN CLOSELY CONTESTED AND EXCITING FINISH.

Bedwell Stable Scores a Double with Briar Path and Marjorie A.—Jockey Turner to Ride Stromboli Thursday.

Baltimore, Md., May 18.—The Consolation Steeplechase was offered as the carded feature of a well-balanced card for the final day of the Maryland Jockey Club's spring meeting at Pimlico, but it took second place in point of interest to the running of the sixth race for two-year-olds under selling conditions. The finish was the most spectacular witnessed during the meeting, the field being closely bunched at the end. The winner, Glomer, ridden by Turner, after being outrun and pinned in along the inside rail for the greater part of the race, finished with a good burst of speed and caught the tiring Golden List and scored by the shortest of noses. The winner remained undecided until the official placing was displayed. Tiajan was third, a head back of the first two. The stable of H. G. Bedwell and Jockey Taplin came into the limelight during the course of the afternoon by scoring a double with Briar Path and Marjorie A. In both instances the Bedwell horses won off in easy fashion. In the race through the field, J. E. Davis scored with Senegambian, ridden by the newcomer, A. Lee, over the popular choice, Tom Horn, with Rock Fish third. The winner was dropped in behind the pacemaker, moved up with a resolute challenge at the twelfth fence and outgained Tom Horn while going to the finish.

Weather conditions were anything but ideal for the sport, a cold, raw wind sweeping the course, with threatening clouds that promised rain at any moment. Still a large crowd journeyed to the track.

Jockey Schuttlinger will accompany the stable of Lewis Girth to Canada to do its riding on the flat. Jockey Clarence Turner left for New York to night. He will have the mount on August Belmont's Stromboli in the Metropolitan Handicap, and at the conclusion of that race he will leave for Toronto to be on hand for the opening of the meeting at Woodbine on Saturday.

William Northern, secretary of the Montreal Jockey Club has returned home via New York. There will be eighteen of the improved Hackmeister pari-mutuel machines at Blue Bonnets, eight of which will be of the self-registering sort, while the other ten will require checkers. Eight of the machines are already on the ground and the other ten are due to reach Blue Bonnets some day next week. An announcement board similar to the one in use at Pimlico has been installed.

J. S. Owenby has decided to send his horses from here to Belmont Park. He will be on hand for the opening of the Hamilton meeting.

L. F. Piper, Brian Borni is down with an attack of fever. This has resulted in a change of plans and the colt instead of being shipped to Canada will go to New York.

Pimlico work-outs over a drying-out track this morning were:

Anxiety—Three-quarters in 1:23.

PROSPECTS OF CONTINENTAL RACING.

According to the "Allgemeine Sport Zeitung" (Vienna), Russian meetings which in the ordinary course would have been held at Warsaw, are being transferred to Wilna, another big Polish city. Prince Lubomirski, the owner of Ksiazka Pan, Mosci Ksiazka, etc., it is said, transferred his breeding stud to the neighborhood of Wilna some time ago. Apparently the Austrians are determined to hold their annual Derby meeting at Vienna. According to "Deutscher Sport," the Austrian Jockey Club has decided to have a six-day Derby meeting in the Ferndean during June, at which will be run, in addition to the Derby, such other closed races as the Stuten Prize, the Aristide Baitazzi Memorial, etc. In the autumn, too, the holding of meetings at Vienna, Alag, and Buda Pesth is hopefully spoken of. As to the jockeys, the Australian, B. Carlslake, who used to ride in this country before he went to Austria, is not apparently optimistic about the immediate future, at all events of racing in the Dual Monarchy, for "Deutscher Sport" announces that he has fixed up an engagement to ride for three months in Roumania for the stable of Mr. Martinovici, one of the most prominent owners in that country, after Mr. Marghiloman. Mr. Martinovici has a string of twenty-four horses in the care of J. Verdier, near Bucharest, where the first meeting of the year began on April 18. Meanwhile there is no fresh news in the German papers about forthcoming meetings in Germany, but as fresh galleons have been opened in the training quarters at Hoppegarten, trainers are no doubt getting on with the preparation of their horses. The American jockeys, W. Shaw (the jockey for Messrs. von Weinberg's stable) and Miles, who is said to have been engaged to ride for the Austrian owner, Baron Springer, are expected to arrive shortly from the United States.—London Sportsman of May 4.

KING'S PLATE CANDIDATES AT WORK.

Toronto, Ont., May 18.—Interest in the training at Woodbine centered today in the gallops of the King's Plate. The weather was cool and windy and the track good. From the Seagram stable Smithfield and Charon worked a mile and a quarter in 2:13, the first mile in 1:45. Vastatio and Torn Silk, from the same stable, went in 2:14, the first mile in 1:46.

Harry Bassett II. worked with Hearts of Oak a mile in 1:45 and a mile and a quarter in 2:14. He does not try in his work. The Hendrie pair, Splutter and Last Spark, worked in 2:12, the first mile in 1:44. Red Fire ran the first mile in 1:44 and the last three-quarters with them. Lady Curzon had Lady Moss for company in the first mile and Beau Cheval to finish with in her gallop of a mile and a quarter in 2:11, the first mile in 1:42. Cartley covered a mile in 1:47 and a mile and a quarter in 2:16. Pepper Sauce beat Okemus six lengths in going a mile in 1:42 and a mile and a quarter in 2:10. Okemus was timed separately in 2:13.

Jockey Groth wired that he would be here Saturday to ride one of the Seagram starters in the Plate.

Hampton Dame, which disputes favoritism for the Plate with Lady Curzon, is likely to change owners as William Krausman may accept an offer of $3,500 and first money in the Plate she wins it. He also has an offer of $5,000 outright.

MOST FAMOUS HORSES IMPORTED INTO AMERICA FROM THE BRITISH ISLES

By Dr. M. M. LEACH

In so short a space of time as seven years, 1851-58, there were foaled, in the British Isles, no less than half a dozen of the most famous horses which have ever been brought to the United States. The lot is made up of Knight of St. George, 1851; Leamington, 1853; Bonnie Scotland, 1855; Yorkshire, 1854; Eclipse, 1854; and Australian, 1858.

The pedigree, performance and influence of Knight of St. George have already been gone into, along with the other imported winners of the St. Leger, so I shall lead off with Leamington, a dark brown, star and off-hind pastern white, bred by Mr. Halford and imported by R. W. Cameron of Staten Island. Soon after his arrival Leamington was sent to Kentucky, where he stood for service at General Abe Buford's Bosque Bonita Stud, in Woodford county. Leamington, however, only made one season, 1860, in Kentucky, and was the following year sent to A. Welch's Erdenheim Stud in Pennsylvania.

The form shown by Leamington on the race course, though good, was not quite first class. Starting in five races as a two-year-old he won two of them, taking the Woodcock Stakes at Warwick and the Chesterfield Stakes at Derby. The brown was out ten times as a three-year-old, and scored three brackets, including a plate at Warwick—a favorite course of his—and Leamington must have been a locally-bred horse, for Leamington is a town in Warwickshire. Another meritorious victory was that of the Stewards' Cup at Shrewsbury. A year later Leamington was twice successful, his most creditable win being that of the Goodwood Plate, then two miles, over the velvet turf of the Duke of Richmond's Park in Sussex. Leamington afterwards won the Chester Cup over his toric Roodee and these races would indicate that Leamington's forte was distance running. Many of his get took after him in this particular, never saw the horse myself, but his picture indicates a black-brown with an intelligent head, beautifully-arched neck, let into sloping shoulders, high over the withers, deep-chested, showing great lung capacity, well-coupled, carrying a brave flag, great length from hip to hock, perhaps a bit pinched in about the quarters, with the flat hams one is so accustomed to see in great stayers and his feet and legs were as near perfection as could be. Anyway, this is the type of horse Leamington bred.

Leamington was not imported until he had made six seasons in England. His stud career in his home land, however, did not bespeak the success that awaited him in the land of his adoption. Leamington was by Faugh-a-Ballagh, brother to Irish Bridefather, out of an unnamed daughter of the first gentleman of Europe, Pantaloon, she got Daphne, by Laurel, and so on down to the Oldfield mare, the tap root of Bruce Lowe's sire family No. 14. Moreover, Leamington's dam is the sixth dam of that wonderful race mare, Pretty Polly. Faugh-a-Ballagh does not appear to have met with any great success in the stud, though he got Fille de l'Air, winner of the Oaks, and Ethelbert, winner of the City and Suburban and sire of Isoline, granddam of Isomony. Of course, Leamington is but another instance of the success that attends the Eclipse to Herod plan of mating. Pantaloon, sire of his dam, being a direct male descendant of Herod, Chance of climate and age, apparently had a most beneficial effect on Leamington and once fairly installed in the United States he proceeded to make the most of his opportunities, though they were but few in the only season the horse stood in Kentucky. The breeders of the blue grass somehow failed to appreciate Leamington's excellence and General Buford, I understand, presented "free seasons" to John Harper for Nantura and Fanny Holton, dams of Longfellow and Lyttleton. Enquirer, Lynchburg, Miss Alice and Anna May also resulted from Leamington's one small season in Woodford county, Pennsylvania. Leamington added to his fame as a sire by begetting Eolus, Iroquois—the only horse foaled on American soil which ever won the Epsom Derby—and in Iroquois' year Leamington stood second to Hermit on the English-winning stallion list. Besides the above-mentioned Leamington, the Onondaga, Stratford, Sensation, Reform, the gelding Parole (which once beat Isomony), and most of these attained, in after years, to much success as sires. Any number of the get of Onondaga were returned winners and his daughter Victorine produced the famous Ornament, Sensation, emulating the feat of his sire, came out second to Orme on the English-winning stallion list the year Democrat won the Middle Park Plate; Eolus is famous as the sire of Eon, Eole, St. Saviour, Morello, etc.; the Longfellow were grand race horses and stayers, but only one of them, Lindon, Wadsworth, Longstreet, Long Taw, Riley, Thora, and any number of lesser lights.

Leamington's daughters were well nigh as famous as his sons, few better mares than Jacquet, dam of Belvidere and Sir Dixon, and sister to Iroquois ever lived. Spinaway was a grand race mare and foaled Handsome, Sensation, and Sensation, and of this year's Derby eligible, Spun Glass, Spark, another good one, is ancestress of the Futurity winner Artful. Perfection is the dam of Henry Young, Susquehanna, sister to Sensation and Onondaga, is the dam of Potomac and so on, but I fear the sands of the line of Leamington are running down in the male line. This seemed hardly possible when Enquirer, Longfellow, Iroquois and Falsetto were at their best. Faustus, son of Enquirer, showed a flash through that early speed sire, Cesarion. Falsetto did splendidly and I thought at one time that there was a great chance of the line being kept going by the Derby winner Sir Huon, but the Bashford Manor stallion has as yet sent nothing to the races approaching his own class. Iroquois did well enough, and his son, Tammany, got Tokalon, a Brooklyn Handicap winner, but only barely over heads of Tammany nowadays. G. W. Johnson apparently gave to the ghost when he got the Derby winner Lieut. Gibson, Morello and Eon got some fair winners for the Eolus branch, but as matters now stand, it looks to be certain, much as we may regret it, that the Leamington line in tall male is done with for good and all.

Bonnie Scotland is however, one of the few horses which have established a line of their own, as demonstrated by Broomstick, which has topped the American-winning stallion list for the past two seasons. The importation of Bonnie Scotland was a decided gain to breeders of this country. Bred by Mr. Wm. T. Anson, on his Yorkshire estate, in 1853, he was half-brother, by Iago, to Blink Bonny, one of the few mares which ever won the Derby, and which foaled to the cover of Stockwell, the mighty Blair Athol. Another one of her's was Borealis, ancestress of those equine celebrities, Leamberg and Bayardo.

Bonnie Scotland, after his importation, made eight seasons in the state of Ohio and then coming to Kentucky stood for one season at Gen. Abe Buford's Bosque Bonita Stud, where he got Froggton. But Kentucky breeders were slow to appreciate his merits and the horse was sold to a Mr. Parks and taken to Illinois, where he got Nathan Oaks and Experience Oaks. Gen. Harding of the Belle Meade Stud, near Nashville, Tenn., purchased the horse when nineteen years of age and it was at Belle Meade that Bonnie Scotland made his great reputation as a stallion, and he died there in 1880, aged twenty-seven years.

Iago, Bonnie Scotland's sire, was no slouch of a race horse himself. He won the Column Produce stakes and the Welcome stakes and Racing stakes at Ascot, ran second to Sir Tatton Sykes for the St. Leger and beat him for the Grand Duke Michael stakes at Newmarket. Iago was by Don John, said to have been imported to this country, by Waverly, son of Whalebone, one of the mainstays of the house of Eclipse. Queen Mary, Bonnie Scotland's dam, was one of the three greatest mares known in history, and was by Gladiator, son of Partisan, and so on back to Herod. Curious, is it not, how many of our really great horses are bred on this Eclipse to Herod plan of mating?

Bonnie Scotland is also half brother to Bonnie Doon, granddam of the late Jas. R. Keene's Jockey Club stakeholder, Disguise, and also granddam of the Elmendorf stallion, Watercress, and dam of Bella Donna, dam of Mr. August Belmont's Bel-dame, Braxey, another half sister, is the granddam of Tristan, winner of an Ascot Gold Cup and sire of Canterbury Pilgrim, winner of the Oaks, and dam of Swaynford and Chaucer. Braxey is also ancestress of Poseidon, an Australian champion, which won an Australian Jockey Club Derby and a Melbourne Cup. La Roche, another descendant of Braxey, won the Oaks in 1880 and yet another granddaughter of Queen Mary is Lady Langden, dam of Hampton, indeed, this Queen Mary family is hard to beat.

The turf career of Bonnie Scotland was only a slush coat but he lasted long enough to show that he was nearly, if not quite first class. Mr. P. Anson's horse did not sport silk as a two-year-old and his first race the following season, the one and three-quarter miles Great Yorkshire stakes, could only get fourth to the Two Thousand Guineas winner, Fazzoletto. Bonnie Scotland, however, won the Liverpool St. Leger, one and three-quarters miles, but Warlock proved one too good for him in the Doncaster St. Leger, Bonnie Scotland and Artillery making a dead heat of it for second place. Merlin, the probable sire of Plenipotentiary, and the Derby winner Ellington, were in the field. Bonnie Scotland won the Doncaster stakes, one and one mile, from the Oaks winner Manganese, but broke down close to the finish and did not start again. However, the colt had done enough to be considered one of the best of the year.

As a sire, Bonnie Scotland scored his greatest successes at the Belle Meade stud, near Nashville, Tenn., where he had gone from Ohio. His get include Duke Blackburn, the cup horse Bramble and his sister, Bramble's daughter, Kinross has given Belle; Hanover's dam; Kelpie, dam of Duke of Montrose; Bandana; Brunette, dam of G. W. Johnson and Huon; Brocade; Giddella and hosts of others. It is through Bramble, however, that the Bonnie Scotland line is being perpetuated. Two of his sons, Clifford and Ben Brush, were both famous as race horses and developed into great stallions. The former, however, did not have the best chance in the world for he stood up in "the frozen north" at Mr. Sanford's Hurricane stud. Ben Brush, on the contrary, was afforded every opportunity, for he stood at Mr. James R. Keene's stables, Castleton stud, under the watchful eye of the late Major Dainoffield. Ben Brush has given us Broomstick, Delhi and Sweep, and just at the present it is through Broomstick that the house of Bonnie Scotland is gaining its greatest notoriety. Broomstick has sired Whisk Broom, a good winner in England, and winner of the Metropolitan, Brooklyn and Suburban Handicaps, in one season, in this country; Meribah, a Kentucky Derby winner, Buckhorn, and last season's unbeaten two-year-old filly, Regret. Whisk Broom is now at the stud at Mr. H. P. Whitney's Red Bank establishment, New Jersey, and Mr. R. F. Carmans Meridian has just arrived to do stud service in the Blue Grass, and as Broomstick himself is now only fourteen years of age the line should continue to thrive and gain in strength and there appears to be but little danger of the Bonnie Scotland line in tall male being snowed under for some time to come.

The star of the house of Eclipse has been, for some time past, decidedly in the ascendant, due more than anything else to Castleton opportunity. Eclipse was a bay, foaled in 1857, bred by Mr. Greville and was imported by that lucky though venturesome turfman, Richard Ten Broeck, of Prioresse fame. Eclipse was afterwards acquired by Frank Morris and passed most of his stud life in the state of New Jersey. From all reports he would have come to a stallion of well known merit, if standing in Kentucky. Eclipse was by Touchstone's son, Orlando, out of Gaze, by the Herod horse, Bay Middleton, son of Sultan, Glencoe's sire, and I firmly believe much of the excellence of the Eclipse line is due to the infusion of the blood of Lord Jersey's Derby hero of 1836. In addition to his top crosses, Eclipse was a beautifully bred horse all the way through. His second dam was a daughter of Godolphin, son of Partisan—Herod again—out of the famous sister to Cobweb and on down to Web, sister to Whalebone and Whisker. The Orlando line in England has practically passed out of existence. Albert Victor, grandson of Orlando, got the famous handicapper, Victor Wild, whose dismal failure as a sire is well known to us all. The Count Schomberg—Anghrim—Canary line of Orlando occasionally shows a flash, and Frontin, a Grand Prix winner, and son of George Frederick, brother to Albert Victor, should have some male descendants doing stud duty in France, and the whole of the Orlando line is a losing proposition abroad. Toddington, Fazzoletto, Diophantos, Fitz Roland and the rest have simply rusted out and we must look to the American descendants of Orlando to carry on the line.

Eclipse as a race horse had some pretensions to classic form. As a two-year-old he won the Clear-water stakes and the following season dead headed with Beadsman for the Newmarket Stakes and won the Third Sale stakes, was placed fourth to Beadsman for the Derby, won an Ascot Biennial, beating the Two Thousand Guineas winner Fitz Roland, but was unplaced to the famous Sunbeam for the St. Leger, and I take it that speed, rather than stamina, was the forte of Eclipse. At the stud Eclipse became the sire of Alarm, whose blood has proven so potent a factor in the make up of many of our swiftest horses of recent years, and the brilliancy of our last year's Kentucky Derby winner Old Rosebud, was largely due to his double infusion of the flying blood of Alarm. Alarm is also sire of Luminous, second dam of the Derby winner Sir Huon, of Red and Blue, of Albia, Ben Brush's dam, and of Himyar, a great race horse and sire of Domino and Correction. Alarm also got Ann Fief, Tremont's dam and Plaything, dam of Tournament. Domino became the sire of Disguise, the Oaks winner, Cap and Bells, and Commando, which got Peter Pan, Superman, Celt, Peter Quince and the unbeaten Colin. Peter Pan got Pennant, winner of a Futurity. Celt has some high class winners running for him. Disguise got Harmonicon, Iron Mask and Maskette. Peter Quince is the sire of two of this year's Derby candidates in Chalmers and Luke, and the get of Colin are said to be exceedingly promising. I was on the point of omitting mention of Ultimus, another son of Commando, whose Luke McLuke was, I think the best three-year-old out last year, and Ultimus is also the sire of Last Coin, unbeaten as two-year-old, whose chances of winning this year's Kentucky Derby are second to none. Truly a marvelous record for the house of

FORCED OUT BY STAR SHOOTER ON THE LAST TURN AND LEO RAY WINS.

First Venture Unlucky in His Race—Manioc's Victory Brings Him a New Owner—Luzzi a Winner.

Louisville, Ky., May 18.—The running of the handicap at one mile and an eighth that featured this afternoon's card at Churchill Downs was attended by several incidents, chief of which was a victory of Leo Ray over Pandean and Star Shooter, which had absorbed more betting attention than he had. Leo Ray's success was in the main due to Star Shooter's action in attempting to bolt on the stretch turn. In doing so he forced Pandean sufficiently wide to cause enough loss of ground to cost the Whitney representative, running in the name of L. S. Thompson, the victory. One of the outstanding incidents of the race came right at the start, when Robert Bradley, ridden by the experienced Maher, bolted and refused to join the others in racing. His elimination removed a supposedly strong factor. Star Shooter at once raced into a good lead with Pandean running sluggishly and trailing until nearing the half, where he moved up resolutely. He appeared able to pass the leader on call when approaching the stretch turn, but at this point Star Shooter began to bore out and forced the Whitney horse wide. Leo Ray, in the meantime, seemed thoroughly beaten, but the great amount of ground he saved enabled him to again become a factor and in the last seventy yards he passed Star Shooter. Pandean fired somewhat in the last eighth and returned to the stand limping perceptibly.

Cool, threatening weather again prevailed and caused a considerable falling off in attendance from the former large standard. The betting slumped correspondingly but this was due mainly to the large and unwieldy fields that furnished the contests in most of the races. The public fared well on the whole, for it managed to connect frequently with the first or second choice.

Manioc's victory in the opener brought with it a change in his ownership, trainer Tom Dodge leading him to E. B. Elkins' stable on a bid of $800, an advance of $500 over the entered price. The horse was lucky to win, for had not the saddle slipped on First Venture, that horse would have carried off the purse. The bidding on Manioc was in retaliation for J. W. May's claiming of Bayberry Candle yesterday.

William Gerst's Luzzi and Gypsy Blair, were best in the two-year-old races, but Gypsy Blair suffered defeat by a close margin by Beauty Shop. Luzzi, however, won her race easily.

Jockey Carroll Shilling sold at private terms today Conning Tower to Steve Golsdon, a Texas turfman. Boots and Saddle was taken over by J. M. Shilling, in whose colors he will run hereafter. Shilling will appear for a hearing at the next meeting of the Jockey Club, but according to report, there is little likelihood that a riding license will be granted to him this year.

G. W. Wingfield's Scarlet Oaks and Celeste arrived today from Reno, Nevada.

C. J. Brockmiller, represented in the last race by Acis, claimed Impression for $850.

Louisville work-outs this morning over a good track were:

Bonanza—Three-quarters in 1:22.
Chalmers—Three-eighths in 41.
Constant—Half mile in 53.
Gather Riley—Three-quarters in 1:18.

Prince Eugene—Three-eighths in 38.

CURRENT NOTES OF THE TURF.

John E. Madden bought recently from W. G. Yanko, the once famous race mare, Round the World, by Lackford—Nellie Bly, by Stratford, and her foal, a chestnut filly by Uncle. The mare was mated this year to Ogden.

It is stated from London that the Goodwood meeting, set for next August, has been abandoned. Lord Derby, speaking yesterday at Wigan, said the Jockey Club had informed a representative of the government he had only to say the word and racing would be stopped within twenty-four hours. If it went on, the government was solely responsible.

King George scratched one of his candidates for the Derby, Friar Marcus, and this news was given out. From it the assumption was made that his majesty was going to stop racing and other horse owners began to follow his example. Yesterday it developed that the king still has Sammarco left in the Derby.

A. H. Brandt has turned the good two-year-old filly, Julia L., by Harrigan—Princess Tulane, recently purchased from R. A. Jones, over to W. J. Young, who will train her from now on. Julia L. has started five times this year, and has won four races, one of which was the Senoritas Stakes at Juarez.

Among the visitors at Pimlico Saturday was Mayor Preston, who occupied a box with General Agnus and Col. Alex. Moore of Pittsburgh. Count Machhi di Cellere, the Italian ambassador, accompanied by the Countess di Cellere, were in a party from Washington with Baron Bakmatieff, the Russian ambassador.

Emphatically the present meeting at Churchill Downs gives warrant for the belief that society has returned to its first love, racing—and that not even golf or polo may compete in the affections of Kentuckians when thoroughbreds enter a contest in which blood and breeding decide the issue.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

That the efforts of the management of the Doral Park Jockey Club in redressing the track will not be wasted is shown by fast work by several of the horses now stabled at the plant. The track has been redressed several times with a solution of clay and has become firm and holding. Another redressing will be put on before the opening of the meeting, May 31. Applications for stabling accommodations are arriving daily.

The stable of August Belmont began the racing season of 1915 auspiciously at Belmont Park Terminal Saturday, when his only three starters at the meeting of the United Hints Racing Association were returned winners. They were Fenmore, a three-year-old left in the stable; Top Hat, a half-brother to Tracery that Mr. Belmont has always insisted was a good one, and Mission, winner of the Bowie Handicap of 1912 and now a particularly good steeplechaser. Two of them were guided to victory by Eddie Dugan, who made his reappearance in the saddle after a successful campaign in Germany and Russia.

MOST FAMOUS BRITISH HORSES IMPORTED INTO AMERICA.

Eclipse, and as his male descendants are extremely popular and well patronized by our breeders, this line perhaps holds the strongest hand of all.

Daughters of Eclipse, too, have achieved much success as stud matrons. Mayflower, the dam of Yo Tambien's sire, Joe Hooker, was one of them. Fanny Ludlow, granddam of Foxhall, was another. Lady Blessington was a famous producing dam, as were Naptha, Nemesis, Eclair and Marguerite, and Megara is ancestress of Handsome, Tanya and Tangie. So reads the history of Eclipse, which, as a progenitor of extreme speed, has few equals and no superiors.

Yorkshire, another bay, was bred by Mr. Mose, and sometime after his importation became the property of the Hon. Henry Clay, who made a present of the horse to his son, John M. Clay, of Ashland, Yorkshire, as far as my researches go, was a non-starter in England, neither did he race in this country. He was by St. Nicholas, son of Emilius, out of Miss Rose by Tramp, sire of Glencoe's dam, Trampoline. Yorkshire traced to the Burton Barb and his sire, St. Nicholas, was a No. 6 horse, out of Seaweed by Scud and it is noteworthy that horses carrying the blood of Emilius have succeeded admirably in this country. Unlike Bonnie Scotland and Eclipse, Yorkshire has failed to set up a house of his own, and is chiefly known to fame through the excellence of his daughters. Hyacinth is the dam of Virgil, Hanover's grandsire; Balloon is the dam of Ballet, ancestress of so many really good race horses, one of which, Regret, if on the spot, fit and well, will receive strong support for this year's Kentucky Derby. Parachute, Balloon's sister, is the maternal ancestress of Ben Brush, so should Regret find her way first past the post next Derby Day it will be quite a triumph for the doubling up of the Yorkshire blood. Skeddaddle was another of Yorkshire's good-producing daughters, and a whole tribe of famous winners descended from her. Then there is Magneta, dam of that superlatively good race horse, Duke of Magenta. Miss Morgan was famous as a producer, Tokay is the dam of St. Martin and King Lear. Maria Innis was yet another good one and Bay Leaf is the ancestress of Bramble and his sister, Brambletina, and just why the Emilius line in fact may have played out it is hard indeed to say, especially as such famous horses as Riddellworth, Sarpedon, Sovereign and Yorkshire were brought across from England. The Emilius line, moreover, has completely faded out in England, and I cannot make out that a horse of Emilius descent is standing for service in either country.

The last of the illustrious sextette is Australian, first called Millington, a rich chestnut, so the stud book tells us, but I have been informed that the horse was so dark in his coloring as to be almost black. Australian was imported along with his dam, Emilia, in 1858, by A. K. K. Richards of Kent county, Kentucky, and won the Doswell Stakes at New Orleans and the Produce Stakes over the Kentucky Association course, and was soon purchased by Robert Alexander, who changed his name to Australian. He stood until his death, in 1879, at the Woodburn Stud. Australian was a son of that celebrated sire, the Australian, dam of that superlatively good race horse, Duke of Magenta. Miss Morgan was famous as a producer, Tokay is the dam of St. Martin and King Lear. Maria Innis was yet another good one and Bay Leaf is the ancestress of Bramble and his sister, Brambletina, and just why the Emilius line in fact may have played out it is hard indeed to say, especially as such famous horses as Riddellworth, Sarpedon, Sovereign and Yorkshire were brought across from England. The Emilius line, moreover, has completely faded out in England, and I cannot make out that a horse of Emilius descent is standing for service in either country.

The English, it would appear, have been particularly unfortunate in disposing of many of their best horses of Herod and Matchem descent. Flying Dutchman, Atlantic and Gladiator of the former line, were taken by the French. Buccaneer was sent to Hungary. Fisherman was transported to Australia, and Glencoe came to this country. Of the Matchems, West Australian went to France, while Oddfellow and Australian were bought by American breeders. Emilia, Australian's dam, was by Young Emilius from Persim, by Whisker, and a member of Bruce Lowe's family No. 11. This is the family of Regulus, Lottery, Venison, Birdcatcher, Faugh-a-ballagh, Fisherman, Royal Hampton, His Highness, Sir Simon and Orme. Fortunately enough, the line of Australian still carries on in tall male in this country, and Hastings, I suppose, must be regarded as the head of the house of Matchem in the United States, and surely his son, that beautiful golden chestnut horse, Fair Play, has a bright future before him in the stud and has out in For Fair, a prominent candidate for the Kentucky Derby.

Hastings, as of course, by Spendthrift, which also got Kingston, sire of King's Courier, which has found favor in the eyes of the English as a sire, and Novelty is receiving patronage from the breeders of France. In this country Frontenac and Hurst Park are found doing stud duty and a few of the descendants of Wildie are standing for service in California. From all this, it would appear that there is little danger of this line of Matchem playing out for some time to come.

Australian's daughters were good, indeed, and one of his sons, Fallowfield, got Lady Reel, Hamburg's dam. Numbered among Australian's daughters are Blanche J., Crescent, Metella, Tarantella, Perhaps, Reckon's dam Lizzie Lucas, granddam of Morello; Ivy Leaf, dam of Bramble and Brambletina; Farfaletta, dam of Falsetto and Maggie B. E. dam of Frounce, and his sister, Jaconet. You may secure the stud book through the American Turf, which sent me a card, and you will find five better mares, credited to one horse, than Perhaps, Lizzie Lucas, Ivy Leaf, Farfaletta and Maggie B. E., and Australian holds the proud distinction of being the only horse which sired the dam of the one Epsom Derby winner foaled on American soil.

In the course of this article, I have gone into the pedigree of five of the most famous horses ever imported into the United States and find that three of them—Leamington, Eclipse and Bonnie Scotland—are bred on the Eclipse to Herod plan of mating, and that one of them is of Matchem descent in the male line, and that one, the weakest of all, Yorkshire, returns Eclipse to Eclipse. Is all this due to chance? I much prefer to think it a vindication of the happy results which attend the balancing of the blood lines and the out-cross plan of mating.

LEOCHARES IS A GREAT SPRINTER.

Is Now Over the $25,000 Mark in Earnings—Jim Gaffney Probably to Be Sold—A Veteran Turfman.

Louisville, Ky., May 18.—This season the racing at the Downs has developed that Leochares is at present king of American sprinters. This five-year-old in John W. Schorr's stable appears to have surely ripened with age and, unless weighted out of the future short races on the Kentucky circuit tracks this spring, is not likely to be beaten in a race of three-quarters or less. At weight for age it seems now that unless Harmonicon can take his measure, he will quit the summer champion sprinter of the 1915 Kentucky season, as there is no chance for him to go against the flying Texas mare, Pan Zareta, which will do her early summer racing on the Canadian track. Leochares is as yet unbeaten this season and his three wins at the Downs were sparkling performances. First he won at five and a half furlongs with 122 pounds up in 1:05 1/2, next he picked up 121 pounds and covered three-quarters in 1:12 1/2, and on Saturday last he ran the latter distance in 1:12 with 123 pounds up. Some expert timers made his time in the latter race in 1:11 1/2, as he was beaten away from the barrier by the flying Chalmers.

This son of Broomstick has now become more than a $25,000 turf winner. He has captured to date thirty-two races, as will be seen by his record below:

Year	Sts.	1st.	2nd.	3d.	Unp.	Amt. Won.
1912	23	11	4	5	3	$9,475
1913	22	11	4	3	5	5,175
1914	24	10	6	0	0	9,575
1915	3	3	0	0	0	1,450

This shows that the fast gelding has started in seventy-three races, been first thirty-two, second seventeen, third eleven and unplaced thirteen times, winning in stakes and purses to date a total of $25,697.

While there is no stake engagement for Leochares at the Downs this spring, as there is no spring stake on the program, the son of Broomstick has two such events to contest for on the Kentucky circuit, one of which is the Memorial Handicap, to be run at Douglas Park on Monday, May 31 (Decoration Day), and the other is the Quickstep Handicap, which is set for Saturday, June 26, at Latonia. As both of these events have $2,000 added and his chances are rosy for winning at least one of them, it is more than probable that again this season the Schorr gelding will once more figure in the table of the $5,000 winners of the year as he has done every season that he has so far been on the turf. The great racing form book has shown in his four years is sure to attract a lot of attention when trainer James Rowe first sends his two-year-old brother to the post this year. This colt is one of the best looking of all the two-year-olds in training here and it is said that his trainer is so sure of his chances.

O. A. Bianchi has received another flattering offer for his successful young sire, Jim Gaffney, and has finally named $7,500 as the figure that will buy the sire of Emerson Cochran, Jim Savage and Dodge at the present time. At the price horses that give great and successful sons are young.

The service have sold in the last two years, the sum Bianchi has agreed to take for the son of Golden Garter seems reasonable and it is more than likely, from reports, that the horse will change hands in a few days.

Former horseman disappointment this season in his good-looking two-year-old, Silver Cloud, the name which was once worn by a great horse in E. J. Baldwin's stable, and which won the American Derby in that dead turfman's colors. As this colt is a good looking, the out of a mare that has produced six winners, and the ex-California turfman laid great store by him. He has, however, been disappointed in his spring training and the other day he offered to sell the good-looking colt for $250. He will probably have another owner before this week is over. Silver Cloud is not by Jim Gaffney, being a son of Bearcatcher, and the dam of this youngster is also the dam of Viola B., which has already produced a good colt, Emerson Cochran. His lack of ability to run shows that good looks are not always a sure sign of a race horse.

Former starter, J. Holtman, gives it as his opinion that W. P. Maxwell, in charge of the race track at the Panama Exposition at San Francisco, is the oldest living turfman. Maxwell much desired to make the trip to Kentucky to see the Kentucky Derby this spring, but his duties in California kept him from making the visit and not disabilities owing to his old age. For a full account, he bids fair to round out a full career and beat all records by remaining strong and hearty for such an old man. He will be best remembered by many turfmen now at the Downs as the patentee of the Maxwell starting gate and at one time his device was in operation on some of the Kentucky tracks.

The first Kentucky Oaks, won by Vinaigrette, was not run as it is today on the closing afternoon of the spring meeting. Its first running was featured on the third day program of the first spring meeting of the Louisville Jockey Club in 1875. The day was Wednesday and the day May 19, two days earlier than it will be run this season. The first Oaks had a small value compared with its return at this time. In that race Cypris finished second and Eleri third. The latter became a winner in after years as a stud matron and gave to the turf that wonderful two-year-old horse Prince Lief, which beat the Kentucky Derby winner, Ben Brush, in both the Oakley and St. Louis Derbies. His career was cut short by death when a three-year-old.

READY FOR ACTION AT DOUGLAS PARK.

Taking Program Devised for the Second Saturday of the Meeting—Fast Records Expected.

Louisville, Ky., May 18.—Few neater program books of a race meeting have ever been issued than the one just published by the Douglas Park Jockey Club for the coming meeting there of thirteen racing days, which begins on Saturday, May 22, and concludes on Saturday, June 5. The program contains a list of the stakes with the entries in each and the overnight cards of seven races daily for the first seven days of the meeting, while the program of money added by any jockey club for the meeting will be announced by Friday, May 28. The opening feature race is the Speculation Stakes at one mile and a sixteenth, and with its $1,500 added makes a total of $5,200 added to the seven races to be run on the first day of the meeting, and this is even less than any other afternoon at Douglas Park this spring on which a stake race is to be decided.

Of course the great day of the coming meeting is Saturday, May 29, when the Kentucky Handicap will be run. On this afternoon the added money to the seven races totals the sum of $13,700, which, with but one exception, is the greatest amount of money added by any jockey club for a single afternoon's sport in the history of Kentucky racing. The full card for Douglas Park's chief day follows:

- First Race—Purse $600, for three-year-olds and over, selling, three-quarters.
Second Race—Purse $600, for maiden two-year-olds and over, selling, one mile and a sixteenth.
Third Race—Purse $600, for three-year-olds and over, selling, one mile and a sixteenth.
Fourth Race—The Kentucky Handicap with $10,000 added, for three-year-olds and over, one mile and a quarter.
Fifth Race—Handicap, purse $700, for three-year-olds and over, one mile and seventy yards.
Sixth Race—Purse $600, for two-year-olds, five-sixths.

Seventh Race—Handicap, selling purse $600, for three-year-olds and over, one mile and three-sixteenths.

The latter race is the first event of this character to be run over any of the Kentucky tracks so far this spring.

The program book is embellished with an outside cover showing an artistic cut in colors of Luke McLuke, the winner of the Kentucky Handicap last year, and an eligible to the race again this year. This same cut is used for the window posters this spring and now decorates all the big stores in the city. It has attracted a world of attention and many lovers of racing have made applications for the poster to have and place in their homes. Manager John Hachmeister has everything now in perfect order for the opening next Saturday. Horsemen say that the Douglas park track is in condition that could hardly be improved, and, with good weather conditions prevailing during the coming meeting and the high class of horses racing, it is nearly a certainty that some of the records for this course will be lowered this spring, and perhaps several records broken during the thirteen days of racing.

At five-fifths this course holds the American record at five-fifths for a three-year-old, secured by Old Rosebud, which later won the Kentucky Derby at a mile and a quarter in 2:03 1/2, which is the record for that race. This course also holds the Kentucky record for a mile and a quarter, 2:02 1/2, made by Luke McLuke in the Kentucky Handicap last year, as well as for two miles, 3:26, which is to the credit of Chub, the first winner of the Louisville Cup since that event has been the feature of the fall racing season at this course.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES OF THE DAY.

The big fleet of warships which has been at anchor in the Hudson River for ten days steamed out to sea at eleven o'clock yesterday, with President Wilson reviewing the five-mile line as it passed the Mayflower, off the Statue of Liberty. Headed by the superdreadnought Wyoming, Admiral Fletcher, flagship, the sixteen big battleships and their train of lesser fighting craft steamed past the presidential yacht at a speed of fourteen knots, each ship with its sailors and marines standing at the rail at attention. As each craft neared the Mayflower her six-pounders, fore and aft, let loose white puffs of smoke, and over the harbor there came the thunder of presidential salute, of twenty-one guns. As each battleship passed the Mayflower, with the crew lining rails and turrets with a fringe of blue, the ship's band played the national anthem. In bidding good-by to the fleet the crowds seemed to be in a thoughtful mood. Leaving New York, the fleet made for Newport, the new station of the president's summer headquarters in the war game along the Atlantic coast. The President and most of his party had arranged to return to Washington aboard the Mayflower.

The latest announcement of yesterday afternoon from the French war office says: "On the terrain west of the Yser canal taken by us yesterday and the day before the Germans left about 2,000 dead and a great number of rifles. In the engagement yesterday we made some further prisoners. East of the canal we have consolidated the positions recently taken by us. In the night the Germans undertook a particularly violent counter attack, preceding this action by a bombardment with artillery and bomb-throwers. They were repulsed. In the Sector north of Nottulm, Dames, and the road from Aix-Noulette to Souchez, we checked completely by our fire two other German counter attacks. As for ourselves we captured as a result of a night advance a group of houses near the cemetery of Ablain. Along all the front north of Arras the artillery fighting is continuing day and night. The German bombardments are less with particular ferocity. In the region of Ville-au-Bois, near Berry-au-Bac, the enemy yesterday undertook a fresh attack, but was easily repulsed."

Italy appears to be on the imminent point of embarking in war on the side of the allies. A Rome dispatch of yesterday says: "Prince Von Bielow, the German ambassador, and Baron von Macchio, the Austrian ambassador, are preparing to leave Rome, according to the newspapers. A special train is in readiness to take Prince Von Bielow to Chiasso, Switzerland, and Baron von Macchio to Ala, in the Austrian Tyrol. The Giorale d'Italia, which has been a strong supporter of the Italian cabinet and was among the first to advocate military preparation, publishes a significant article today. 'War,' says the paper, 'is virtually declared by concord of the king, the government and the nation. The wonderful secret dream which for half a century has strengthened Italy in its long wait, is about to be transformed into radiant reality.'"

Corporation Council Folsom was directed by the city council Monday to "proceed at once to forfeit the telephone rights and franchises of the Chicago Tunnel company." The sudden revival of the fight to confiscate the automatic system was launched by Ald. John C. Kennedy, one of the two Socialists in the council, and he was supported by a large majority of his associates. On a motion to suspend the rule of the council, the council voted without its reference to a committee he won by a vote of 43 to 16, and on the final roll call on the passage of the order, by fifty-eight to eight. By its action council rode rough shod over the opinion of former Corporation Counsel W. H. Sexton, that the forfeiture clause of the franchise was ineffective, and likewise the contention that forfeiture would be confiscation.

Edward Addicks, who won a national record by spending $3,000,000 and eleven years in trying to become a United States senator from Delaware, spent Sunday night a prisoner in Ludlow street jail, New York, in a proceeding to punish him for contempt of court. The suit out of which the contempt grew was begun in December, 1909, by Hiram M. Burton, who got a judgment against Mr. Addicks for $15,472.51 due on a note. The judgment was returned unsatisfied, so supplementary proceedings were begun against Addicks. His bail was fixed at $18,000. Addicks is 73 years old. He was said to have property valued at $10,000,000, but he lost most of it through politics and unfortunate business investments.

Financial operations between France and England on an enormous scale are now being conducted with a view to eventually establishing a large credit in the United States for the purchase of munitions and supplies, according to information received in banking circles of New York yesterday. The greatest secret of the being thrust around the transactions, but it is known that $100,000,000 in gold has been transferred from the Bank of France to the Bank of England and some shipments have been made direct to this country. There has been received in New York $7,000,000 for French account and $5,000,000 is now on the way from Paris, though the name of the steamer has been concealed.

The German government has not published the text of President Wilson's note, nor has it given the slightest intimation of what its reply will be. Nevertheless, German newspapers discuss the matter freely, and one, the Berliner Tageblatt, points out that since it has been established that there was an interior explosion aboard the Lusitania after it was torpedoed, the United States should invoke the law enacted in 1882, which provides one year's imprisonment for any captain of a passenger ship to take out of an American port high explosives or gunpowder. The newspaper declares this shows where the responsibility for the loss of life aboard the ship rests.

War Secretary Kitchener announced in the house of lords yesterday afternoon that the British and French governments intend that the allied troops must be adequately protected against poisonous gases by the employment of similar methods. These, he said, would remove the enormous and unjustifiable advantage for the Germans which must otherwise result. Secretary Kitchener also said in the house of lords that he wanted 300,000 more recruits to form new armies. He expressed his confidence that in the near future the country would be in a satisfactory position with regard to the supply of ammunition.

Reports from Constantinople confirm the discovery of a plot organized by Armenians and Turks opposed to the new regime to assassinate the sultan, Mehmed V. The plot was discovered by the sultan's personal bodyguard, General Linan von Sanders, telegraphs the Paris Journal's Athens' correspondent. Two Armenians were to have blown up the Kara-Keui bridge connecting Stamboul and Galata, on the sultan's birthday, while the ruler, accompanied by his command, was crossing the bridge. The plot was said to have been revealed by a son of Zoghrah Effendi, an Armenian deputy.

In London yesterday, Thomas J. MacNamara, parliamentary secretary of the admiralty, announced in the house of commons that 460,628 tons of British shipping, other than warships, had been sunk or captured by the German navy since the war began. "The number of persons of all nationalities killed in these sinkings," he added, "is approximately 1,556. The tonnage of German shipping, not warships, sunk or captured by the British navy to May 15, is 314,465. So far as known no German or neutral subject has been killed in connection therewith."

From Vienna a message of yesterday says: "While Austria is pondering the danger at the Russian front at Przemyel and along the Italian San, combined Austro-German forces have launched a drive in Southwestern Poland that has already carried them more than forty miles toward the northeast from the Nida river. The Russians have retreated to Opatow, which is being shelled by the cannon of the Teutonic allies. In their pursuit of the retreating Russians the Austro-German troops captured more than 7,000 prisoners and twenty-two guns."

It is stated that the United States government has tentatively reserved the right during the week of taking over the entire unsold portion of this year's spelter production of at least two of the largest spelter producers in the country. The Federal emergency now being provided against it is likely that other producers shortly will be tied up on grades adaptable to the requirements of the government. One producer acknowledged: "We will not sell another pound of spelter for export until we find out what Uncle Sam demands."

A dispatch of Tuesday from London says: "The casualty list issued last night was again heavy, comprising 137 officers and 1,300 men, of whom 684 were soldiers and sailors engaged in the Dardanelles. Among the killed was Honorable Solwyn Erasmus Arnold Phillips, elder son of Lord St. Davids, an officer in the Royal Horse Guards, and Captain de Tuyl, all of the Horse Guards, who were with the late Duchess of Beaufort and the late Baron de Tuyl."

A Berlin dispatch of yesterday afternoon says: "The official text of the American note to Germany was published here today. It was said at the foreign office that it would be some days before the answer of the imperial government was ready. This was because the note raises many points of consultation between several departments of the government will be necessary in preparing a reply."

A cablegram from Tokyo, Japan, of yesterday says: "A brilliant court wedding took place here today when Princess Yasu, the youngest sister of the emperor, was united in marriage to Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, attached to the second army division of the empire. This was the first great court event since the close of the mourning period for the late Empress Haruko.

Emperor Nicholas' birthday was celebrated throughout the Russian Empire yesterday. Enthusiasm was added to the celebrations by the latest reports from the front, which state that the Austro-German attack is being checked all along the battle line from the Baltic provinces and that at several points the Russians are gaining ground in a counter offensive.

In New York the commission for relief in Belgium announced yesterday that arrangements have been made for sending a second steamship carrying contributions from the people of New York state to the Belgians. The Elmdale, discharging a cargo at Rotterdam, has been selected for that purpose and is to sail from New York about June 5.

The American Red Cross shipped 4,102 cases of supplies to Dr. Richard P. Strong, head of the American Red Cross sanitary commission in Serbia, on the steamship Tithania, which sailed Monday for Palermo and Piræus. It was announced yesterday. The weight of the shipment was 400,550 pounds, and was valued at $57,392.

A London dispatch of late yesterday says: "It was intimated in authoritative circles today that any differences which may have existed between Winston Churchill, lord of the admiralty, and Lord Fisher, head of the fleet, which threatened to disrupt the cabinet, had been satisfactorily composed."

Yesterday's baseball results—National League: Chicago 1, New York 0; St. Louis 5, Philadelphia 2; Brooklyn 4, Cincinnati 0; Boston 3, Pittsburgh 2. Federal League: Newark 8, Pittsburgh 0.

NOTES OF THE TURF FROM OTHER LANDS.

Reports are that Tracery's first crop of foals are youngsters of splendid size, conformation and general appearance.

The broodmares, foals, yearlings and stallions owned by the late Earl Cadogan will be sold by auction at the Newmarket Second July meeting.

Fred Winter, the Kaiser's English jockey, who is interned at Ruhleben, stated in a recent letter home that he drew Ally Sloper in a Grand National sweep among the prisoners, and won thirty shillings, which, he added, "came in handy."

Five horses were backed in London May 4 to win the Epsom Derby, they being Pomera at 3 to 2, King Pram, 100 to 15, Tournament, 100 to 8, Sunfire, 100 to 6, and Fitzbort, 20 to 1. Against the latter bets of $5,000 to $250 and $2,500 to $125 were laid.

The six-year-old horse Cuthbert, by St. Aidan—Meddlesome, which finished first in the Lincolnshire Handicap of 1913 and was disqualified, and which ran second to Outram in the same race in 1914, ended his somewhat sensational career in a little jumping meeting at Pershore May 4. Oppiger hit a hurdle in the Croome Maiden Hurdle Race and fell. Cuthbert fell over him and, breaking a leg, was destroyed.

Sir Abe Bailey recently wrote W. B. Allison from Mulzeng, Cape Town, saying: "You will be pleased to hear D. Maher is as a possible. He rode the best part of eight hours the other day spring-buck shooting, and never turned a hair. In fact, he is looking better than he did just before he stopped riding. He goes to England at the beginning of June, and returns to South Africa in October, and after that he should be as well as ever he was in his life."
